

April 4, 2025

It was good to welcome everyone back to campus and to ease back into academics with a short week. The course request process began on Wednesday, and I wanted to make you aware of some dates and deadlines. The next few weeks will be pretty busy, so here is a calendar overview.

April 2 - Course Guide published and available on-line.

April 3 - End of Q3

April 8 - Spring Parent Forum at 8:30am in Hajjar Auditorium. This forum's topic: AI Tools, Tips, and Resources and Academic Integrity at D-E

April 9 - Applications due for SAGE and Peer Mentoring

April 11 - Grades-in-Progress and Comments post

April 16 - Course Planning documents and 6th major requests due

April 18 - Course Request Confirmations sent home for review and signature

May 1-3 - Department Chairs and Deans review course requests

May 6 - Department Chairs begin communicating any changes to course requests

May 13 - Deans begin to work with students on course request revisions

Next week, students should be working with their advisor and (optional) talking with their college counselor as they plan for next year. I am available to answer questions about requirements and the academic program as a whole, but any questions about a specific subject or course offering should be directed to department chairs.

Wishing you a wonderful weekend.

Happy Spring and see you on Tuesday morning!

Tuc